ABSTRACT

U.S. organizations interested in and involved with hunger issues and actions are described in this annotated listing. There are four major sections: (1) non-government organizations; (2) regional agencies; (3) government organizations, including United Nations and multilateral agencies, U.S. Congress, and federal government agencies; and (4) religious organizations. Only those private voluntary organizations which serve as major sources of materials for education and development issues are included. Information provided for each group includes address and telephone number, director's name, organization's major objective, services, and publications. An index is provided. (RM)

THIRD EDITION

1982

EDITOR'S NOTE

The 1982 edition of WHO'S INVOLVED WITH HUNGER has updated the 1979 list of relevant organizations and the information about them. Some of the previous organizations have been deleted; even more have been added. It is interesting to note that almost no organization has been entered unchanged from its previous listing. Decisions about which agencies to include were based on guidelines for the previous Directory. Only those Private Voluntary Organizations (PVO) which serve as major sources of materials for education and development issues within the U.S. are included. The regional section has been greatly expanded and a new section on religious organizations involved with hunger has been added. Unlike the previous editions, the PVO section is listed alphabetically. In order to locate organizations working in specific categories, e.g. political advocacy, use the Table of Contents. For information about PVOs engaged in relief and development work overseas, please refer to the following guides:

Voluntary Foreign Aid Programs.1981. Available free from the Office of Private Voluntary Cooperation (PVC), Bureau of Food for Peace and Voluntary Assistance (FVA), Agency for International Development, Washington, DC 20523. (202-235-1623).

U.S. Non-Profit Organizations in Development Assistance Abroad. 1978. Edited by Wynta Boynes. 524 pages. Two supplements have been added since 1978 covering both additional organizations and corrections to current entries. Popularly known as the TAICH Directory. ($6.00). Available from: Technical Assistance Information Clearing House (TAICH), 200 Park Ave. South, New York, NY 10003. 212-277-8210.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Third Edition of WHO'S INVOLVED WITH HUNGER would not have been possible without the generous sponsorship of the following organizations:

Board of Church and Society, United Methodist Church
Board of Discipleship, United Methodist Church
Lutheran Church/Missouri Synod - World Relief
Office on Global Education, Church World Service
Oxfam-America
The Hunger Project
United Methodist Women's Division, Board of Global Ministries

For these grants we are deeply grateful since they have covered the costs of weeks of research time, professional and clerical staff time. In addition, our special thanks go to:

The Xerox Reproduction Center, Arlington, VA., and the Xerox Corporation for their generous grant covering the printing of the first 3500 copies.

Though the Directory could not have been published without this financial assistance, neither could it have happened without the consistent assistance and cooperation of staff and friends. Special thanks go to Lisa Balaban, American University student intern who did most of the initial research for basic information on the PVOs; to Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), North American Liaison Office for general support; to Sheila De Turk from WHES staff for typing virtually the whole directory with patience and cheerfulness throughout the process of correcting and retyping; to Susan Quarles, Administrative Assistant at WHES, for proofing, correcting, layout and suggestions; to Debra Carter for the cover design; to other WHES staff, Jim Cavener and Guy Griffith, who assisted in data gathering; to Patricia Kutzner, Executive Director of WHES, for continuous encouragement and support. Thanks, too, to each organization included in this directory for your response to our inquiries, making the revision possible. Without you there would be no directory.

To all these people and organizations I give my appreciation and thanks. However the editor is solely responsible for the final decision about the entries and the contents of each, based on the material received.
